Lecture: King David, known to many as the pint-sized hero who took down the towering giant Goliath, also took out a contract on his competition’s life, and ignored the emotions of an anguished wife. How can people do unspeakable things and then emerge as heroes of the Hebrew Bible? Examining the dark side of David will expose to the light the extraordinary theology of biblical heroism, how the women he wanted navigated their world and the core of this celebrated king’s humanity.

Instructor: Professor Marcie Schoenberg Lee’s passion is teaching and learning from those in her university, adult education, and preschool classes, as well as her Jewish, Christian, Muslim and secular audiences around the United States and abroad. She teaches the Bible through art, ethics, human sexual behavior, Judaism, child development, the relationship of the Hebrew and Christian Bibles, and effective parenting. She trains religious school teachers, is a child development consultant, and conducts Sabbath services for AVIV of Arizona. ASU faculty associate Professor Lee was educated at the University of California, Hebrew Union College and Arizona State University; cultural exchange programs have taken Professor Lee to Germany, Turkey and Bosnia Herzegovina.
